Allentown, Pa.— Team Nick competes in triathlon to raise funds for kids with cancer

Team Nick competed again this past Sunday, May 15 in the Ocean City Triathlon of New Jersey. Team Nick was formed 6 years ago to raise money for young kids undergoing cancer treatment at the Pediatric Oncology Clinic of Lehigh Valley Health Network, Muhlenberg location. Rather than donate the money directly towards research like Team Nick has done in past years, team member, Nick Fritz, who was diagnosed with leukemia in 2006, decided the team should take a more active approach by having the money raised go towards putting smiles on children's faces. Today, a majority of the money raised by Team Nick is used towards purchasing things that would be most appreciated by the children. This year, the company, Five Below has graciously chosen to donate multiple boxes of toys that can be distributed among the patients as well.

If you would like to help, donations can be made to Team Nick, payable to Lehigh Valley Health Network/Pediatric Oncology and sent to:
